About

Over 10 years' experience in business development in high-end jewellery, the chemical industry, and the cosmetic industry, equipped me with a synergy of the sales force and marketing dimension, especially digital marketing and social media management. As a driven and efficient communicator, I am adept at transmitting a brand's values to clients with professional advice, structuring multi-channel marketing plans to expand the consumer base, forecasting the increase in sales, and tracking relative KPIs. Currently seeking the right opportunity to further develop my skill set in a creative environment and contribute my expertise to a prestigious company.
