About

Hello

My name is Mbagwu Njideka, an Abuja-based content writer, social media manager, community manager, and data analyst

I'm a certified technical writer, I create error-free technical documentation like manuals

If you have a group on any social media platform, you need a community manager to continuously engage with your group members

Are you a coach? You sure do need a community manager to manage your community while you focus on making more money

I'm a content writer, I create well-researched, compelling, engaging, and optimized SEO content that drives sales for your blog and website

Believe me, you are leaving money on the table if your business isn't online or if your online presence isn't much, you need someone to manage the online presence of your business, send a dm because that is my job as a social media manager

I am a data analyst, I create visualization to discover trends and make findings

I'm sure you need a team member who's research-driven, goal-oriented and meets deadlines, sends a dm, and lets amazing things
