About

A fashion designer who's moved all the way from India to Paris to pursue his dreams. it seemed like a challenge at first, but I took on anyway and here I am living my dream. I am passionate about what I do and I love sharing my experiences with others. I am organised and driven and I like to completely immerse myself in the task at hand. And that I believe is the biggest advantage. My organisational skills are an asset while working in teams, which also complement my leadership qualities. I like to work in a task designated environment and with a focused mindset. I am a hardworking and reliable person in the workspace.
