About

As a stagiaire at Les Sources, a luxury hospitality group, I apply my digital marketing and social media skills to create and manage online content, optimize websites, conduct competitive analysis, and assist in press relations and events. I collaborate with the Chef de Projet Digital and the Responsable Presse to respond to customer inquiries, update reference sites, and organize press trips. I also create brochures and flyers for seasonal promotions and events.

I am currently pursuing a double degree in MSc Luxury Marketing in Sustainable World and Master in Management at Montpellier Business School, where I learn about the trends, challenges, and opportunities of the luxury industry in a global and ethical context. I have a bachelor's degree in French from Tamkang University in Taiwan, where I also participated in a language exchange program at the University of Franche-Comté in France. I am fluent in Mandarin, English, French, and Korean.

Some of my other competencies and interests include graphic design, photography, video editing, singing, cooking, and sports. I am passionate about exploring new cultures, cuisines, and experiences, and I aspire to work in the luxury sector as a marketing professional.
