About

An internationally experienced Jewellery Designer with a strong background in customer care and an aptitude for sustainability in fashion. Leverages beneficial aesthetic analysis, materials research, and supplier sourcing skills and is accomplished at building and strengthening multi-faceted relationships with colleagues, clients, and key stakeholders. Knowledgeable and innovative, will confidently utilise new technologies and display a passion for crafting new objects and incorporating unique solutions into them to subvert the usefulness of the materials. Exceptionally organised, consistently maintains high levels of communication, and is renowned for inventive planning and advanced ideas and concepts. Demonstrates excellent recycling and upcycling abilities and cultivates stronger skillsets through informative training and working closely with a dynamic and productive team. Aiming to develop a successful career in sustainability within the fashion industry and to utilise key jewellery design skills, as well as an ability to advise, buy and procure sustainable brands/suppliers to support the building of a sustainable future.
