About

Rubayet Hossain - Career Profile

Rubayet Hossain is a seasoned professional with extensive experience in management, business development, and technical advisory roles across diverse industries. Currently serving as the Director and Business Development Head at ZHART UK, Rubayet has a proven track record of driving strategic growth and leading high-performing teams.

His career began with a strong foundation in technology and engineering, highlighted by his role as Principal Engineer and Tech Advisor for the Bangladesh Armed Forces, where he managed supply chain logistics and advanced weapon systems. This position under the Directorate General Defense Purchase of the Ministry of Defense provided him with invaluable experience in handling complex, high-stakes projects and collaborating with international stakeholders.

Rubayet's expertise extends into the retail and corporate sectors, having served as Assistant Manager at Sunnamusk in London, where he excelled in overseeing operations, enhancing customer service, and leading a dynamic team. His ability to manage large-scale operations was further demonstrated during his tenure as Head of Business Development at Augmedix by Google in Bangladesh and Oriental Group Ltd.

An entrepreneur at heart, Rubayet founded ZAZO Bangladesh and DES (Dhaka Electronica Scene), where he combines his passion for technology and creative arts. These ventures reflect his innovative mindset and commitment to fostering community engagement and technological advancement.

Academically, Rubayet holds an MSc in Management from Coventry University and a CMI Level 7 Certificate in Strategic Management and Leadership Practice. He also earned a BSc in Computer Science from London South Bank University, specializing in Gaming Vision & Interaction, which underscores his deep understanding of technology and its applications in modern business.

Rubayet's diverse background is complemented by his experience in media and journalism, having worked as a full-time reporter for the London Evening Standard and as Head of Operations & Business Development at Radio Today in Bangladesh. These roles have honed his communication skills and his ability to thrive in fast-paced environments.

With a commitment to excellence and a multifaceted skill set, Rubayet Hossain continues to make significant contributions to every organization he is a part of, driving innovation and fostering growth through strategic leadership and technical expertise.
