About

My 4 years of marketing at Kedge Business School and my specialisation in digital marketing have given me a business and technical background. As a Digital Project Manager in the consumer goods industry, I participated in the thinking process and development of digital tools in order to expand the e-commerce and omnichannel strategy. I also ensured the follow-up and the quality of the different digital tools by carrying out UAT & Non Regression Testing and by proposing improvements in order to optimize them.

I would now like to broaden my skills and join a team that matches my values. Having worked for major fashion houses (Berluti, Mugler & Nordstrom), I have learnt to discover, analyse and satisfy customers' needs. I am fluent in English and I have developed a strong sensitivity for the fashion and luxury sector within which I will be able to get involved and listen.
