About

With extensive experience as an Atelier Director in leather goods development, I am confident that my skills and expertise would always reach the highest level of expectation.

Throughout my atypic career, I have honed multiple different skills across the luxury space. My trajectory switched twenty years ago when I met a leather master who changed my life. I immediately felt a passion for high end custom leather work. I have attached my resume to give an idea of my background and relevant skillset from first sample design and development, to precise sewing and execution.

My meticulous attention to detail and organizational abilities have allowed me to consistently deliver efficient and top quality results with some of the most particular brands. I take pride in my specific craftsmanship and strive for excellence in every project.
