About

I'm an entrepreneur. I founded my own brand, Rabaneda, in 2010 and managed it for eight years.

My work has been endorsed by competitions such as Vogue Who's On Next in 2013 and International Woolmark Prize in 2014. I have collaborated with brands such as Nike and Disney.

Since 2015 I'm professor of Projects at CSDMM (UPM Fashion Design School), what I have combined with my work as Creative Director at Angel Schlessler from 2018 to 2020, where I have created the main collections.

Nowadays, I'm still combining my work as professor with my new project, Rodriguez y Rabaneda, that I launched last year 2021.

All this work experience has helped me to define and project myself as a very complete profile as creator. I always look at the future, looking for new formulas that allow me to innovate and evolve from tradition and history that give value to what I create.

I'm open to new challenges that allow me to share my knowledge. Also acquire new experience that will let me keep growing.
