About

I am an energetic, enthusiastic and a social person with a proper blend of management and business skills. I love working with people and I am a quick learner. I specialize in troubleshooting by ensuring the right person and tool at the required job. I would like to see myself as the flag bearer of one of business industries and would strive to add value through my learnings, values and strategies. Also I have been actively engaged in my family business which has made me understand the importance of managing and running a business in day to day life.
